By the calendar, we have more than 30 days until spring. Based on recent years, we might have 3 months or more until we can count on warm, sunny days to do things outside.

If winter and cold have you or your family feeling cabin fever, try some of these:

- Bundle up and go outside, especially at midday and on brighter days. Sunlight helps brighten moods as well as the sky.
- Exercise. Even a walk, especially mid-day and outside, will help.
- Eat fresh fruits and vegetables. Replace carb-dense snacks with fresh food if you can.
- Take up a hobby or learn something new Carmel Clay Library has loads of material.
- See family, make new friends, connect with old friends. Ladies - come to bunco night?
- Play music, sing, join a chorus. Up-beat music is a great mood-booster for everyone.
- Volunteer somewhere. Helping others is a proven antidote to the blues.
